

New Street Gallery Artist Cooperative

New Street Gallery is an artist-led gallery space opposite the Exchange Gallery in Penzance.

Managed and run by the artists themselves, the gallery offers high-quality, fine and applied art, direct to the public. There is no gallery commission — work is available at studio prices. The group currently consists of fourteen artists exhibiting a varied and original body of work in a wide range of media.

Fine and applied art

Whether you are interested in ceramics, painting, printmaking, photography, drawing, sculpture, stained glass or jewellery, the work exhibited is always intriguing, exciting and of a high quality. The artists live and work locally, and because the gallery is manned by the artists themselves, it is possible to talk to them directly about the processes, materials and inspirations behind their work. The displays change frequently, so there is always something new to see.

Joining the gallery

Membership of the cooperative is through election by the group. If you are a local artist interested in joining please request and complete an application form. You will then need to submit a few pieces of work for consideration at the monthly meeting — these should represent the sort of work you would propose to display in the gallery, rather than your entire portfolio. Images can be submitted digitally, but actual samples are always preferred.

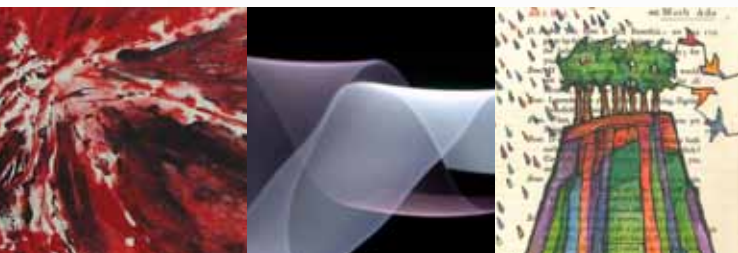

The third room exhibition space

2010 saw the opening of a new exhibition space at the rear of the gallery. The third room is perfect for small temporary exhibitions by new and established artists or existing members of the cooperative. Exhibitions will change on a regular basis, giving visitors something completely new to see every few weeks.

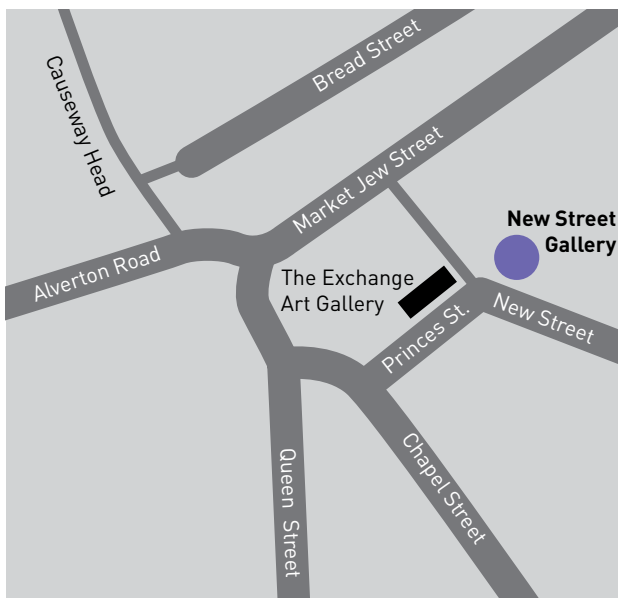

If you are interested in showing your artwork in the third room (or know someone else who might be), please contact the gallery on 01736 361222 or by email on: info@newstgallery.org.uk
